Corflu 2000

March 3-5, 2000
University Plaza Hotel
Seattle, Washington

THE AGENDA: Talk about writing and reading speculative fiction, as a part of formal programming, in Clarion-style writers' workshops, in the con suite, in the halls and elevators. We'll host the Clarion West scholarship auction. There will be a small dealers' room. We'll have a dance. Nanoprogramming may strike at any moment.

CONCOM: Ian Hagemann, Chair; Jane Hawkins, Con Suite and Assistant Chair; Suzanne V. Tompkins, Hotel Liaison; see Progress Report #3 for more.

MEMBERSHIP: Currently $35 (for Potlatch only) and $45 (for Corflu only). The combined Potlatch/Corflu rate of $70 is good until Feb. 15. Rates will rise at the door: Potlatch: $40; Corflu: $50. Our U.K. agent will accept pounds sterling (see below).

Corflu is the longest-running fanzine convention in the solar system. Seattle last held a Corflu in 1988, and we're eager for another chance to host fanzine fandom's annual reunion. We'll present the mixture of fannish programming, plastic spacemen, fanzines, fine microbrews, gossip, chocolate, and trivia that have become Corflu tradition, plus one or two new things we have in mind.
